

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A detectable flat panel display and a recognition system therefor. The detectable flat panel display includes a substrate including a circuit region and a display region, a circuit device disposed on the circuit region of the substrate, a display device disposed in the display region of the substrate, and a metal pattern. The metal pattern can be formed in the circuit or display region and can reflect light such that the reflected light is detectable by recognition equipment.